Which can be transformed so as to be reintroduced into a production cycle for the manufacture of new products.¹ It is necessary to check whether the products are accepted in your municipality.

A biodegradable product is likely to be completely decomposed by living organisms.³ The OECD 301D test protocol (Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development) certifies that a product is biodegradable.

If a product has the test procedure logo, it means that at least 60% of the residue left by the product will naturally decompose in less than 28 days.

Composting is a biological treatment process that allows for the biodegradation (biooxidation) of organic waste, under the action of aerobic microorganisms (living in the presence of oxygen). The organic waste is first mixed with structuring agents (e.g. wood chips) to increase aeration, then placed in windrows, piles or in a reactor.

Compost is obtained after reaching a thermophilic phase (temperature between 45°C and 70°C) and a subsequent maturation phase.⁵ However, it is necessary to check if the products are accepted in your municipality.
